- Registration of trademarks;
- Drafting of Non-Disclosure Agreements;
- Advice on IP litigation (no court appearances);

2. The Company Law Division:

- Company registrations;
- Drafting of all commercial agreements, including, but not limited to:
 - Shareholders Agreements;
 - Sale of Shares Agreements;
 - Service Agreements;
 - Partnership Agreements;
 - Joint Venture Agreements;
 - Employment Contracts;
 - Company policies.
 - Memorandum of Incorporation- advisory services;
 - Company restructuring consultancy;
 - Business Rescue consultancy.

FOUNDER

The company was founded by Tebello Motshwane who holds an LLB degree from the University of Johannesburg.

She is a driven individual and is passionate about the legal profession. She founded the company with the intention that it would enable start-up and growing businesses to have access to practical legal assistance while being able to focus on their product/service offering.

She believes in the spirit of collaboration and aims to create and maintain long-term relationships with the people she engages with.

VISION

We shall be a household name in the provision of top class legal advisory services at the lowest possible cost to our clients.

MISSION STATEMENT

Collective Intelligence is a Black-owned consultancy and advisory company, which provides legal services aimed at assisting start-up and growing businesses in all matters relating to Intellectual Property Law and Company Law.

Our intention is to create a seamless service which will be inexpensive but at the same time offer our target market exceptional legal services enabling each client to focus on their profit margins rather than the legal implications associated with starting a company.

We take pride in studying our client's businesses so that we are able to accurately accommodate the legal needs of their growing business.

Goals and objectives:

- To be a leading consultancy company in the legal industry;
 - To offer a competent service;
 - To operate with integrity;
 - To form collaborations;
 - To uplift society.

COLLECTIVE CARES FOUNDATION

The Collective Cares Foundation was established in 2017 as an extension of Tebello Motshwane's lifelong passion of giving back to her community. The Foundation focuses primarily on women and children from disadvantaged communities with a view of building communities which are able to sustain themselves.

The work which the Foundation carries out aims to empower young women specifically through school visits targeted at teaching the youth various topics pertaining to social issues such as peer pressure, AIDS and teenage pregnancy, substance abuse and domestic violence. Including skills based topics such as CV writing, preparing for an interview, etiquette and social media awareness.

Our recurring charity initiatives include:

- The Nelson Mandela Day toiletry bag drive where we focus on collecting sanitary towels and other cosmetics for the youth (irrespective of gender).
- Our annual Santa Shoebox drive focused on children between the ages of 0-16 years where we collect toys and books to gift the children ahead of Christmas.

These initiatives have gained exponential momentum and excitement over the years.

Collective Cares Foundation is based on the principle that freedom cannot be achieved unless the women and children have been emancipated from all form of economic oppression.
